PlatformOne Completes Successful Transition of HRIS Infrastructure and Technology Support for Presidion Solutions

Atlanta, GA – November 17, 2003 – PlatformOne, the leading provider of HR-BPO services for the mid-market, today announced Presidion Solutions, Inc. has gone live with PlatformOne's HR technology platform, infrastructure and support. The service offering also included PlatformOne's finance solution. The rapid deployment of PlatformOne's technology solution, designed specifically for the PEO (Professional Employer Organization) industry, achieves a significant advancement in technology for Presidion that will ensure the company's future success.

Presidion's existing software platform needed to be upgraded, web-enabled and consolidated to a single technology platform throughout its three operational centers and corporate headquarters.

"Our goal was to transition our systems to a common, stable, and current Lawson environment by year end," said Craig Vanderburg, Presidion CEO. "We needed to improve customer service and enhance financial reporting, while reducing administrative overhead costs. By outsourcing the management of our technology infrastructure to PlatformOne, we have accomplished all three key objectives."

Approximately 45 project members, most with other day-to-day responsibilities, migrated 45,000 lives to the new technology platform, and completed the project ahead of schedule. Parallel systems were maintained and managed as necessary, with minimal interruptions to the employee base. Due to the complexity of the project, the transition occurred in two stages. All the while, the systems were operational to support and run the day-to-day business.

"By normal means and methodologies, this should have been a 12 month undertaking," said Ray Drummond, PlatformOne's COO in charge of the conversion. "Our success is a testimony to this team's dedication - our working in harmony. PlatformOne's proven conversion procedures, along with our processes to automate data migration and parallel processing, were also instrumental to the successful transition. By partnering together, we achieved the end result in under 8 months."

"The goals we initially set out to accomplish on this important project have been achieved," said Craig Vanderburg. "We have consolidated and stabilized the technology infrastructure upon which our future growth depends. We now continue to work closely with PlatformOne to leverage their technology infrastructure and resources to improve our customer offerings, financial reporting and internal efficiencies."
