PlatformOne Strengthens Senior Management Team Again; Offers Its Technology Platform To Mid-sized PEOs Who Desire To Improve Operating Efficiencies.

Atlanta, GA – February 20, 2006 – PlatformOne, the fastest growing Human Resources Business Process Outsourcing (HR-BPO) provider for the mid market, today announced that David Volpi has joined its senior management team.

Mr. Volpi joined the PlatformOne leadership team in January 2006 to advance the company's PEO Enterprise Applications Service Provider (ASP) initiative. Among his primary objectives will be to form key business relationships with organizations in the Professional Employer Organizations (PEO) industry, and to position PlatformOne technologies as an alternative solution for mid-sized PEOs who need to improve operating efficiencies enterprise wide in order to stay competitive. Mr. Volpi brings more than 25 years of leadership skill in the HR outsourcing services industry to PlatformOne, having served as President and Chief Operations Officer for three PEOs previously.

Mr. Volpi comes to PlatformOne from Advantec, a nationally recognized PEO known for its development of outstanding human resources outsourcing operations and technology platforms. There he initiated and led the development of the technologies and internal business processes required to improve customer service delivery, back office processes, and financial controls. He also led the initial business planning process that raised eleven million dollars of start up capital and the acquisition and development of the technology platform that supports hundreds of clients throughout the Southeast and Midwest today.

Throughout his career, Mr. Volpi has made significant contributions to the development and success of leading HR solutions targeting small to mid-sized companies. His earlier professional experience included roles as President and Chief Financial Officer for Staff Management System of Florida and as Division President of ADP's Total Source, which was ADP's initial venture into the PEO industry. Most recently, David has provided consulting services to businesses in Florida considering HR outsourcing.

His experiences have gained him valuable knowledge and insight into the complex issues many mid-sized PEOs face today, associated with HR, payroll, labor, and related business processes, such as finance and billing.

At PlatformOne, Mr. Volpi will assume the responsibilities of a National Sales Director.

“After years spent improving systems and operations in our own backyard, it has become clear to us that mid-market PEOs simply are not equipped with the necessary technologies and associated business processes to compete effectively in today’s business environment of extremely high expectations,” said Tony Foley, president of PlatformOne. “We have created this new position of national sales director for the purpose of making our PEO Enterprise ASP solutions better known in that market.”

“In the future, streamlining their operations to effectively compete in the market will prove as important to PEOs as managing risk. Implementing integrated technologies, enterprise wide, will be a key success factor in the operations area for most mid-sized PEOs. PlatformOne has implemented such solutions over the past eight years for our own affiliated PEO, SCI Companies. Now, under David Volpi’s direction, we are making these solutions available to other PEOs with similar operating challenges,” Foley continued. “We are anticipating that our proven systems, business processes, and internal procedures controls will persuade more mid-market PEOs to outsource the critical administration of their technology environment to PlatformOne. We are fortunate to have David join us as we continue the growth of our PEO Enterprise initiative.”
